

April 2020 Subscription Concerts to be cancelled

As part of the measures to prevent the spread of the novel coronavirus infection, the NHK Symphony Orchestra will, with regret, call off the April subscription concerts (all 6 concerts in 3 programs). We apologize for any inconvenience this may cause to those who have been looking forward to the performances, but we ask for your kind understanding.

Tickets for the concerts will be refunded, so please keep the ticket/s you have purchased safe. As for how to receive the refund, either N-kyo guide or the ticket agency where you purchased the ticket/s will be contacting you around mid-April.

Initially we planned to perform a concert on the first day of each program without an audience taking all possible preventive measures against the infection, with live broadcast on NHK FM and recording for television for deferred broadcast. However, as the coronavirus has continued to spread, we feel further consideration will be needed for the wellbeing and safety of the performers and those who work for the concerts as a precaution against infection, therefore we have decided to cancel the performances.

Thank you for your understanding.
